

EXAMINATION IN MIDWIFERY.

1. Describe the female organs of generation. 75
2. Give the symptoms of pregnancy during the first three months. 75
3. When you examine a woman in labor, how do you determine if the position is normal? 75
4. What would you do for the severe case of hemorrhage during labor until a physician could be called? 80
5. What are the symptoms of kidney trouble in the pregnant woman? 80
6. Describe the preparation of the woman in the beginning of labor. Also how do you prepare yourself? 75
7. How do you take care of the cord and the baby's eyes? Describe after care of the mother with especial reference to the nipples and genitals. 60
8. How do you deliver the placenta? In case a severe hemorrhage follows delivery of the placenta, what would you do? 65
9. If the baby does not breathe well or cry lustily, what do you do? 75
10. How do you feed a baby for the first three or four days? What do you use? 60
11. What would lead you to suspect a parturient woman would be likely to develop convulsions? 70
12. What benefit may be derived from your making a report of a birth? Why is it necessary so to report? 60

Jan 14 - 1926 Madisons Wis Examined by Dr J. B. Brewer - member of your board and give average of 75%.
Could not write English saws given an oral exam on above questions.

Robt. C. Thompson M.D.